What you can expect to share and learn in Training Level 1

- Knowledge about ritual and the practical skills for bringing the power of ritual into your daily life.
- Developing awareness and trust of the physical body as a guide to self-awareness.
- Opportunities for self-reflection and insight within a community of people who are oriented to their personal evolution and service as a priority.
- A deeper understanding of the dynamics of personal responsibility.
- Practices to bring awareness to the power of communication and how it affects all relationships, and the skills to share responsibly without compromising your truth.
- Learning how to deliver feedback in a constructive way and receive feedback gracefully.
- Awareness of your capacities and claiming your unique strengths, skills, attributes and talents.
- Support from and on-going connection with a community.

"The amazing tools & learnings along with the heartfelt unconditional support, connections & commitment from the collective have given me the courage to take the plunge and to live my life like I have always dreamed of."

“The training stretches me, teaches me and has gifted me with the most intimate and deep connections. My life is richer and my relationships more loving and balanced.”
